Title: JUGGALOS

Synopsis: Open the captioned Enterprise Investigation.

Details: DIOG, section 8, Enterprise Investigations, authorizes the initiation of an investigation by an FBI Field Office with prior approval from the Field Office SSA with written notification to the appropriate FBIHQ substantive unit. The responsible FBIHQ entity must notify the DOJ NSD or the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section (OCRS) of the initiation of an enterprise investigation by a Field Office. The FBI Field Office must also notify any relevant USAO (DIOG 8.6.A.1).

On 03/15/2011, writer spoke with AUSA [REDACTED] USAO District of Utah, and advised her of opening of this investigation. Writer also discussed with her the general purpose of the investigation.

Information in this communication was gathered from federal, state, or local violent street gang investigators, analysts or prosecutors.

BACKGROUND

The Juggalos are a violent street gang whose membership follow a small niche of the rap scene, known as "horrorcore". The genre is mainly associated with Detroit artist Insane Clown Posse, but has spawned a host of imitators who excite crowds with musical horror stories in which murder, rape and suicide are recurrent themes.

Insane Clown Posse can't get its music on the radio, but claims to have 1 million devoted fans who call themselves "Juggalos" or "Juggalettes," and sometimes paint their faces to look like wicked clowns. Some continue the dress by carrying small axes, like the cartoon hatchet man associated with the band.

States are starting to recognize the Juggalos as a gang in such places as; Utah, Arizona, Pennsylvania, and California. In Utah the Juggalos have been associated with S.L.P. (Salt Lake Posse a local Crip set). The juggalos have been charged with discharge of a firearm. Juggalos crimes also include drug sales, drug possession, child endangerment, as well and many other crimes typically seen by gangs and gang members.

PURPOSE

This enterprise Investigation seeks to examine the structure, scope, and relationships pertaining to the captioned violent street gang; to identify members and the organizational structures of the gang; to identify relationships between the members of the gang; to identify all illegal activities which may constitute a pattern of racketeering activity conducted by individual gang members and groups of gang members and which may support prosecutions for federal violations.

INVESTIGATIVE PLAN

SU agents and TFOs will utilize variety of lawful methods to gather evidence or information that supports the above described purposes using traditional and sophisticated techniques and working in partnership with local, state and federal investigators.

It is recognized that in order to develop larger conspiracy investigations and successful conspiracy prosecutions, investigators must often start at the "street" level. Practical experience in enterprise investigations shows that many successful cases do not start with a Title III court order or a RICO indictment. Often, to get to that point investigators must start with and work at length at street level drug purchases of smaller amounts of drugs, surveillance, gang member debriefs, witness debriefs, confidential human source recruitment and other traditional or non-sophisticated techniques. Moreover, state level criminal violations often support broader federal conspiracy charges are often supply predicate violations to demonstrate a pattern of racketeering and are regularly adopted by federal prosecutors and relied upon as evidence to support federal charges and convictions. With that in mind, it is expected that SU division agents will work closely with local, state and federal agencies, squads and task forces in a variety of lawful techniques to gather evidence related to this investigation.

Investigations should also consider that the USAO, District of Utah, is very aggressive in the prosecution of Hobbs Act Robberies and will consider almost any string of robberies for prosecution and even single robberies committed by serious violent offenders which meet the elements of the statute as federal Hobbs Act violations. Consequently, assisting local and state agencies in the investigation of robberies which may fit the Hobbs Act should be considered in furtherance of this or other gang enterprise investigations when the suspects may be members of gang relating to this investigation.
